Blog post: Corona virus and the ban on events

In these corona virus times we are experiencing a situation which affects us all in our daily lives and which is accompanied by many restrictions. The interpreting industry is affected too: the ban on events results in every conference interpreter's timetable being cleared. As a mediator between interpreters, technical partners and customers, AVL is your point of contact if you, too, are affected by this events ban and have to postpone or cancel your event. Our goal is to achieve mutually acceptable solutions that take into account the interests of all parties involved, rather than strictly adhering to a set of terms and conditions which would impose costs onto a single party. Only in a joint effort can the effects of the corona virus be mitigated and the Swiss economy strengthened. So let's join together to find solutions to individual challenges! We look forward to your contacting us and to personal exchanges.

Incidentally, we believe that an extraordinary situation also creates space for new opportunities. Read about some of our ideas and proposals in our next blog post.

Sincerely,
